tina steinberg

A creative business inspired by life, love, a dream and a desire to uplift others. In November 2003, Tina Steinberg woke up with an idea to make herself a bracelet that showcased beautiful black and white photographs of her family. She had never worn nor made jewelry. She didn't know what she was doing but in one day's time, she found everything she needed and created her first treasure. She spent December filling Christmas orders and her jewelry baby was born.

Tina's jewelry has evolved into other personalized creations including silver inscribed with inspirational messages of peace, love, courage and other important life themes. She also creates an ultra-special collection of silver fingerprint pendants customized with your loved ones' fingerprint impressions. This happy accident has blossomed into a field of non-stop requests locally and from around the country from proud moms, dads and grandparents eager to wear touches of life in silver.

Her business is a vehicle for helping others in many ways, including providing periodic funding for children's mental and physical health services. Lately she has also received requests to imprint dying loved ones to make fingerprint pendants for surviving family members. She feels it is privilege to be a part of peoples' lives in a way that connects them to their needs and comforts.
